NO COMPLICATIONS HAVE DEVELOPED.

The Belief Prevails That the President Will Recover, and That Belief is Reflected in the Countenances of Visitors Leaving the Milburn Home at Buffalo.

Milburn House, Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9 .- "God's contribution to the American people will be the sparing of the president's life." As the evening shadows were falling to-night, John G. Milburn, president of the Pan-American exposition reverently uttered these words as he stood before the house in which the nation's patient was fighting so bravely with death. And all who have been at the Milburn residence to-day reflect the view that the battle will be won, and the prayers of the world will be answered. Since last night not an unfavorable symptom has appeared. Every hour has been a victory. Within, faith in the outcome grows stronger, and hope mounts higher and faculties were benumbed while the higher, until in the minds of some the danger of all future complications is brushed aside and hope has become conviction. Indeed, many of there has been no such issue raised the president's friends seem pos. on this occasion, and the vice-presisessed with a sort of superstitious confidence in the president's recovery sponsible for the avoidance of any which nothing but an absolute change | thought of the temporary exercise of for the worse can shake. And the basis for the confidence that is expressed is solid. There has been nothing but improvement, gradual and slow, but steady improvement. Every bulletin, every private and public word of the physicians in attendance breathes encouragement. The reports are facts as they exist from a scientific standpoint, unmixed with senti-

Still, that the president is by no means out of danger, is the verdict of each of them. Not one of them will risk his professional reputation with a statement that the president will live. All they will say is that with every hour the danger of complications from peritonitis or blood poisoning decreases.

Dr. McBurney, the most eminent of the phyiscians in attendance, expresses the opinion that if the improvement continues it will be a week of the Missouri conference of the tonitis, it can be said positively, has well nigh disappeared. If he should grow worse the change in that direction also probably will be slow. This is the opinion of Dr. Mann. There will be no crisis. If he arrives at convalescence, Dr. Park expresses the opinion that it will be three weeks before it will be safe to move him.

It is expected that the interior | the physicians. wounds will heal first. The sutures of the lacerated tissue were made so soon after the bullet passed that they are probably healing rapidly. With the exterior wound it is a slower process. The extreme optimism of the vicepresident and the members of the cabinet would be difficult to overstate. "I am absolutely confident everything will turn out all right," declared the vice-president, and he said he based his confidence on information behind the public expression of the physicians. So relieved are Secretary Gage and Attorney-General Knox at the steady improvement that they returned to Washington, to-night, feeling strongly that their chief would re-

Vice-President Roosevelt has occupied a peculiarly delicate and trying position since the event which threatened the president's life, but he has borne himself throughout this ordeal in such a manner as to win the admiration and respect of all. It has, moreover, added a new bond between the vice-president and those intimately associated with the president, and the latter are warmest in their expressions of the manner in which he has met every requirement of the situation. Not for a moment has he permitted the idea to be entertained that there was need for considering the constitutional disability of the president and the exercise of executive functions which this would impose on him. On the contrary, Mr. Roosevelt has been one of the most positive in the conviction that the president would recover. During the long period of Mr. Garfield's illness nice distinctions arose as to what constituted the disability of the president within the meaning of the constitution; whether, when the physical mental faculties were unimpaired there was any disability as meant by the constitution. But fortunately dent himself has been primarily reexecutive functions by him. Nor has there been any occasion for the exercise of executive authority, for each

Twice during the day, and again this evening, the vice-president has which the physicians have given out called at the Milburn residence to inquire as to the president's condition. During the afternoon call he met several of the cabinet officers and Senator Hanna and spent a short time with them in informal discussion. On the streets Mr. Roosevelt has been the center of respectful attention, but he has met this with dignity and composure. Despite senseless remarks that he was going about guarded by secret service men, he has positively declined to have anything like a guard near him. hero of by exploitation No specific order for the arrest or minor routine matter as it comes can detention of Emma Goldman has been sent out by Superintendent Bull, but it is possible that she will be arrested on the general request that the police throughout the country locate and examine any person who may be suspected of complicity in the crime.

ABRAM ISAAK, ANARCHIST.

Antecedents, Occupation and Residence Known to Police.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 10 .- Abram Isaak, arrested in Chicago on information received from Buffalo, and suspected of being concerned in the conspiracy to assassinate President Mc-Kinley, was for many years a resident of Portland. He, with Abner J. Pope and Henry Addis, published a weekly paper called the "Firebrand" in a building on Third street until the owner ordered them to vacate.

They resumed publication of the paper at Zellwood, a surburb of this city. The paper was devoted to rabid anarchistic doctrines and advocated free love. The postal authorities caused the indictment of its owners for sending objectionable matter through the mails. Pope refused counsel and was sentenced to jail for six months and fined one dollar.

Isaak and Addis took the pauper oath, stating that they had not the money to employ counsel, so an attorney was appointed to defend them. The matter dragged along for months and finally the indictments were dismissed, June 20, 1898. Pope went to Home, Wash., where he now lives. Addis remained in Portland, and Isaak went to San Francis-

In San Francisco Isaak began the publication of another paper called the Free Society. About a year ago
